

KMG provides QA & Testing Services that help clients adapt to today's fast paced application turnaround times.

QA & TESTING

Enhanced Quality. Cost Effective Strategies.

As the IT industry continues to grow, technology is getting more complex. Businesses expect faster software development turnaround times without compromising on quality. KMG applies industrialized focus in enhancing the quality, reliability and performance of your technology needs through highest levels of testing solutions while curtailing your testing costs.

Organizations today are looking for new ways to reduce their testing costs while increasing testing breadth. In addition, they desire to enhance customer satisfaction, minimize risks and meet industry standards and guidelines. This becomes inevitable for organizations which strongly depend on other companies for testing services and incur large expenditures on fixing software and application issues.

Focused Expertise

KMG provides 24x7 independent QA and Testing Services and Support to clients using its onsite/onshore/offshore model, while maintaining the highest levels of quality processes and standards. Our ability to understand the application environment and provide both manual and automated tool-based testing services puts us in a unique position to extract higher overall end-user satisfaction for our clients.

Our QA & Testing Services provides a full suite of testing strategy, planning, quality improvement and execution. These include developing Test Strategy, Test Plan, Developing functional/regression test cases & scripts as well as executing the scripts manually or using test automation tool.

We understand our client's different needs and come up with the best-fit solution for software testing process, practice and Strategy.

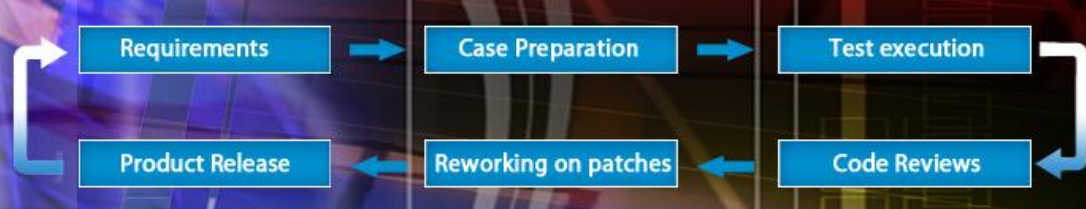

KMG has a centralized, independent testing department. We focus on processes, people, tools, domain knowledge and best practices, with an emphasis on continual process improvements.
